About Black Garlic North America

Black Garlic North America is committed to producing the highest quality food products with an emphasis on food safety and sustainable methods. We develop products for families and food industries that foster healthy, unique choices and our products are produced in socially responsible ways to preserve the earth, our generation and generations to come!

Black Garlic is fresh garlic that has gone through a high-heat, long-duration fermentation process; it is natural, vegan, gluten-free, preservative-free, ready-to-eat and Kosher-Certified. We even offer Organic-Certified black garlic products!

Black Garlic North America produces all of our Black Garlic in Wisconsin, U.S.A. where we take our time and do things right for the best possible flavor. Our process takes 120 days from start to finish for each batch of Black Garlic, ensuring the highest quality and the best taste!

Our employees have more than 60 years of experience in the food industry, and Black Garlic North America's facility and food safety program are Certified Level 2 to the SQF (Safe Quality Foods) Global Food Safety Initiative (GFSI).

Black Garlic Powder

We start with the finest North American Garlic, ferment it at high temperatures and age it to develop the sweetness for which our Black Garlic is known.

The resulting product is dried and ground into a powder that is available in Granulated, Economic, Coarse and Fine grain sizes, with custom blending options available for our clients!

Unlike our competition, we don't add fillers, chaff or stems to our black garlic powder. Our conventional and organic Black Garlic is natural, vegan and Kosher-Certified.
